

2017 WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP RADIO CONTROLLED HELICOPTER F3CN JURY REPORT

FAI Jury:

Dag Eckhoff
Frits Van Laar
Peter Uhlig

Dates:

July 22 to July 29. 2017

Location:

Wloclawek, Poland

Information:

1 bulletin was distributed and published on the organizers web site. All other information was distributed on Internet. Due to the number of pilots in F3C the organizers used one flight line for both classes. This is normal for continental championships.

Participation:F3C:

There were 40 competitors from 15 countries. There were only 4 juniors. The defending champion came from Japan. (Hiroci Ito).

F3N:

There were only 25 competitors from 9 countries. There were only 4 juniors. The defending champion came from Germany. (Eric Weber).

Accommodation and food:

A list of hotels was given in Bulletin 1, and teams booked their own accommodation direct with the hotels. Adequate breakfast for the jury and judges were supplied in the hotel. Lunch was served on the field and in the hotel. The hotel this year was a large and new Spa hotel with splendid accommodation.

Opening ceremony:

Opening ceremony was held at the flying field with full size air show and local dancers.

Flying site:

The flying sites consist of grassland beside the runway and both flying sites were close together. During finals the two classes flew on the same field.

Weather:

The weather was nice through the whole week though we had some thunderstorm. The program for each day where completed without any major delay

Competition:

Model processing's were held at the field and all pilots were able to make an official practice.

The pilots showed a higher level of performance this year. Both new equipments and the nice weather contributed to this, but the flying skills have obvious improved for many pilots.

Protest:

There were no protests in any of the classes.

Results:

The title in F3C went to Enio Graber from Switzerland and Ko Huan-Chen from Taipei in class F3N. There was no title in for juniors due to the nr. of pilots. All juniors were given prizes and diplomas. France won the team trials in F3C and Great Brittan the team trials in F3N.

For other result see the attached files and http://rcheli-wchs2017.pl/results_ftp/.

Conclusion:

It was nice to see how smoothly the organizer was able to run the 2 classes. There were no delays.
This championship had unfortunately a reduction of number of juniors.

The Championships were very successfully completed.
